

Financial Aid for Graphic Communications Students

The Graphic Communications Scholarship Fund of New England is one of the largest scholarship programs of its type anywhere in the country.

Each year the fund awards nearly $100,000 in scholarships to students throughout New England. This program was established in 1957 to assist qualified students in continuing their education in graphic communications.

Students must be residents of New England. They can be seniors, recent high school graduates, or currently enrolled in an accredited college or university that offers a certificate or degree related to printing or graphic communications. Applicants must submit an application form and their transcript record.

Visit www.gcsfne.org to apply and for more information.
